Volunteers share stories from the 2018 Paralympics

BY LINGYUN WANG

"The extra end of the wheel chair curling final is underway at the PyeongChang Paralympics Curling Centre, where China is competing. We are all very happy to see the Chinese team clinch to its first-ever gold medal in the Paralympics Winter Games."

Volunteers Zhiping Chen and Wang are standing in front of a TV screen, watching the curling competition. "It's a scene that I dreamt about for years," Chen said. "I never thought I would see it happen."

Chen, who is in her final year of study at the China University of Agriculture and Life Sciences, said she was inspired by the pitch of the Paralympics, where she learned about the history and culture of China.

"I was excited to be a part of this history," she said. "I want to be a part of this history."